

Good morning,

OSF HealthCare is holding its Annual Research Symposium (ARS). The ARS recognizes and celebrates the efforts taking place at OSF HealthCare, highlighting trends in the clinical and academic research fields.

This is an event for those interested in and/or involved in these types of research. Of the abstracts submitted, four are selected for Platform (oral) Presentation the day of the event. Judges are present and prizes are awarded for best posters and platform presentations. The afternoon session consists of traditional conference sessions on various research-related topics.

Media is invited to check out the posters, presentations, and research.
